Teen Social Media Quiz

What type of Internet user are you?

A. Couldn't imagine a day without my phone!
B. Social Media is not a huge part of my life.
Which one are you?! A or B?

How many hours a day are you online or using your cell phone?

- □ 30 minutes to an 1 hour
- □ 1 - 2 hrs
- □ 2 - 3 hrs
- □ 3 - 4 hrs
- □ 4+ ~ my phone never leaves me

Where is your cell phone when you’re asleep?

- □ Under my pillow (charging)
- □ Next to my bed charging and still on
- □ In my bed next to me - I fall asleep with it
- □ In my parents’ room so I’m not on it
- □ Charging next to me but turned off
- □ Sometimes I don’t even know

How many social media accounts do you have?

- □ 2 or 3
- □ 8 or less
- □ 10 +
- □ I don’t even know

Who do you talk to the most online?

- □ Friends mostly, sometimes family
- □ Anyone who will talk to me
- □ Other gamers
- □ Strangers on forums or chat rooms

You spend most of your time online...

- □ Listening to music
- □ Gaming
- □ Texting with friends
- □ Googling
- □ Social media posting and sharing

- Tablet/iPad
- Smart watch
- Gaming station
- A "simple phone"
- Computer/laptop

How often do you use email?

- Everyday
- Only for school
- Only when I sign up for a new account or an app on my phone that requires it
- I have it but I don’t check it unless I have to!

Have you ever run into a wall because you were looking down at your phone while walking?

- Yes
- No
- Maybe

Everyone is talking about this new app. You...

- Already have it - you always have it first
- Download it - if everybody’s using it, it must be okay
- Check it out just to see what everyone’s talking about
- Don’t care - you don’t really follow the crowd
- Chat with your mom/dad because they have to approve DLs
- Wait to see what your friends say about it

When someone sends you a link to a funny quiz, you can’t wait to...

- Take it and share your results
- Take it but don’t share the results
- Text it to a friend
- Post it on FB/Twitter/Instagram etc...
- Post it, depending on what it is and if it should be shared - it might not really be funny!

Your parents took your phone away as punishment for something you did. What is your reaction?

- Well... OK, now I have an excuse to ignore people for awhile
- What? Nooooooo, I’m gonna die!!!
- So unfair - My parents are so mean!
- A week?? Ok, I can do this - breathe.
- Whatever, I’ll just use my friend’s phone.
- That’s what tablets are for ~ I can get around my parents.

A. Couldn't imagine a day without my phone!
B. Social Media is not a huge part of my life.

Which one are you more like?! A or B?

Did you know that there are apps for your phone that keep track of how long you’re on social media?

Cell phones tend to get hot and have caused fires under pillows! Fun fact.... Did you know that cell phones actually deprive you of sleep. Studies suggest that staring at your screen before bed can keep you awake longer due to the blue light that is projected.

Your Digital Footprint ~ Where Will Yours Lead?

This is your digital footprint. The picture that represents you to your friends, parents, scholarship board, future college, and future employer/s. What do you look like right now? Draw or write the apps and social media that you are currently using. Is it all good? What changes could you make to present a "better version" of yourself? Cross out the apps that are bad, over your age, or causing you to waste time or be distracted from your studies or family activities.
Personal Reflection Sheet

Food for Thought - Goals for Using Social Media

After what I learned today, what changes can I make to my digital habits?

Can I cut my internet, texting, chatting, gaming time in half? Can I set some time limits for my online time?

Can I remove some of the apps on my phone? Are there some apps that I should stop using NOW?

Have I Googled my name lately? What does my cyber footprint look like?

What apps will help me build a positive Google search and cyber profile?

What will I do with the time that I free up? For example, spend more time on homework/studying? Spend some time with my family?

Can I take my phone, tablet, computer etc... and show it to anyone: a friend, sibling, parent, teacher? Nothing to hide!

Will I honestly consider reporting something online like a "threat to life," to protect a friend, even if they get mad for awhile?

Will I resist bullying and sharing unnecessary things or images online?

Will I respect myself and others and get adult help when I need it - before I get into trouble? Will I speak up when something is wrong?

Can I use the values I've been taught by the Church and my parents to share my faith online and in person?

What Can You Do to Keep Your Child Safe?

- Teach your child to engage in constructive conversation and avoid name-calling or bullying.
- Explain what type of information should never be shared online.
- Depending upon the age and maturity level of your child, as well as your relationship with him or her, you might be able to explain why you don’t want your child to access certain types of material. For example, the sex depicted in pornographic images isn’t generally representative of real life or our Christian values; a young teen may not recognize that difference without your guidance.
- Let your kids know they can come to you for help if they encounter someone or something that makes them feel scared or uncomfortable.

Keep your children safer by making sure to limit the hours that your child can access the internet on his or her mobile device, and make sure to block sites that you don’t deem appropriate by using parental controls. It is never too late to talk to your children and teens about apps and social media sites that you feel are inappropriate for them to be using. With good communication and a little help from web sites like Netsanity, NetSmartz, Webwisekids, and Josh Ochs, parents can keep their kids protected and balanced while getting the benefits of being online and using a mobile device!

Many apps allow users to communicate with friends by inputting their contact information; however, many apps can be abused by strangers and online sexual predators if they have a child’s email address or phone number. Even when there is no public access or the option to seek out strangers, many kids hand out their user names and emails on other sites when they think it is a friend of a friend. This is one tactic online predators use to gain access to more children.

An app itself may not create any objectionable content, but that is not to say the user on the other end will not send something inappropriate to your child.

Most apps start out as a fun way to connect with friends, but if the user is not careful, online predators can take advantage of this well-meaning form of communication. Always review your child’s activity and app usage. If possible, use their apps to familiarize yourself with how it works. You can also check chat history in the app and review older videos, making monitoring past conversations quite simple.

When allowing your child access to communication apps, it is wise to ensure that they understand how they work, who can see their activity, and for how long. Teaching them what is appropriate to share over ANY social media app will go a long way in preventing dangerous behaviors.
The following checklist can help you take steps to keep yourself safer online.

☐ Check your comments and images.
   Have you posted anything inappropriate or illegal, like threats, nudity, alcohol, or drugs?

☐ Talk to your friends about what’s OK to post.
   Agree that you won’t post embarrassing or hurtful comments or images of each other. Be clear that you’ll delete – or if needed, report – any posts that are inappropriate, illegal, or threatening or could get you in trouble.

☐ Review your account settings.
   Go through each option slowly. Always ask yourself – what is on my profile and who can see it?

☐ Know your friends, contacts, and followers.
   These are the people who can see, share, and comment on what you post so you want to be sure you can trust them. Block and report anyone who makes harassing, threatening, or inappropriate comments.

☐ Keep an eye on 3rd party apps.
   Some of these apps will give companies access to your personal information. Always read the fine print before deciding to add one.

☐ Don’t forget mobile.
   When you use mobile devices like smartphones and tablets to post something or check in, you could also be sharing your location. Check your settings to make sure you’re only sharing what you want to.

☐ REPORT.
   You have the right to be safe online. If anyone cyberbullies you, make a report to the website or app. If anyone shares or asks you to share sexual messages or images, make a report to www.CyberTipline.com.
